Mobile Imaging & What's Included

Your facility may need to rent a mobile MRI or CT Scanner for various reasons. Below is a list of items your rental may include:

Site Planning Support - Mobile pad requirement, on-site mobile placement, power requirements and transport accessibility.

Mobile Transportation - Two-way transport from an expert level mobile imaging transportation company.

Mobile and Scanner Setup - Including network and PACS connectivity to the scanner.

Applications Training - New software or model your team is unfamiliar with? No Problem! We can provide applications training to you and your staff.

On-site Technologist - In need of Technologist Staffing? Let us help provide you with a professionally trained Technologist.

Full Scanner Maintenance - Includes labor and parts with an onsite response time and uptime guarantee.

Trailer Repairs - Includes HVAC, patient lift and other required maintenance that may be needed while on site.

When to Consider Mobile Imaging for long term or temporary rental:

- When Your Equipment is being upgraded or replaced
- Increased patient need or backlog
- Provide additional imaging options without large capital commitments
- Renovations
- Equipment downtime
- Emergency situations
- Space and building limitations
- Provide a source for additional revenue or testing the market
